Survival Strategies, Physical and Intellectual

The efforts to insure the survival of the Jewish People involve several strategies. It just happens that two such strategies were the focus of my reading in the early part of 5779. So in this month's issue of The Rabbi's Nightstand, I want to recommend two volumes, on wildly different themes, both written by giants in their fields, both wildly entertaining reads.

The first is Rise and Kill First: The Secret History of Israel's Targeted Assassinations. Written by Ronen Bergman, Israel's most celebrated investigative journalist, and published this year, Rise and Kill First made such an immediate impression that HBO has bought the rights to the book and plans to produce a TV series. Given that Bergman required the permission of Israel's military censor in order to publish the book, it's as intimate a portrait of the Mossad as can be painted. Based on interviews with several former and current leaders of Israel's (and America's) intelligence community, we read of some of the most fascinating espionage episodes of our era.

In early October it was announced that Arthur Ashkin, Ph.D., 96 years old, born in Brooklyn and Jewish, won the Nobel Prize in Physics. He shared the prize with two of his colleagues. He was awarded this honor for his groundbreaking work on optical tweezers (optical trapping). It is described as the method of using light to capture tiny objects. Arthur Ashkin is the oldest Nobel Laureate to win the prize. Some of you probably already heard of this but I thought I would share it with you as I am always proud to know that one of our fellow Jews has contributed so much to society & humanity.

I also want to share a tidbit...for those of you who have Spectrum (formerly Time Warner Cable) as their Cable provider, as I do, I was happy to learn that they are now offering JBS (the "Jewish Broadcasting Service" station) which is on channel 219. For the past few years so many of my friends & family have been calling me whenever they see our concert being aired on JBS. JBS has been airing our Gala Concert that took place at Queens College Lefrak Concert Hall, with full symphony. However, since TWC/Spectrum was not carrying this station, so many of us could not enjoy. I am pleased to know that now we can enjoy the great programs JBS offers, on Channel 219 on Spectrum, so look out for it....

Heads up...our "HHBJC ANNUAL FAMILY/ COMMUNITY CHANUKAH DINNER" will be held on SUNDAY, DECEMBER 9th @ 5:00 PM. It is being organized and arranged by our fantastic and dear MARIS BLECHNER with those who so lovingly volunteer to help. Let us celebrate The Festival of Lights together. (Rabbi Wise Continued from page 1)

I've heard Bergman speak twice in the last couple months at AIPAC events, and maybe because he was addressing rabbis, he felt compelled to note the title of the book. It's based both on the Talmud (Bavli Sanhedrin 72a) and the comments of many of Bergman's sources during interviews: "Hakam lehorgekha, hashkem lehorgo—if one arises to kill you, rise earlier and kill first." Without ruining the book, the reader should know that Bergman spends some time not only telling the stories of Israel's policy of targeted killing, but also evaluating the success of the policy. While it has certainly been a factor in reducing Israeli casualties—a strategy for insuring the survival of Jewish people—it has collateral effects. As Bergman concludes the prologue: "Nowadays, when the same kind of extrajudicial killing that Israel has used for decades is being used daily by America against its enemies, it is appropriate not only to admire the impressive operational capabilities that Israel has built, but also to study the high moral price that has been paid, and still is being paid, for the use of such power" (p. xxiv).

The second book that outlines a strategy for the survival of Jews takes an entirely different approach. It's the 2012 father-daughter essay jewsandwords by Amos Oz and Fania Oz-Salzberger. The thesis of the essay, or series of essays, is that words—in both oral and written form—have sustained Jews and are the only legacy worth preserving. As secular non-believers who hesitate to accept the term yahadut—Judaism—as the be-all and end-all definition of Jewishness, Amos (the novelist among us) and Fania (the historian among us) point to the indispensability of language to the enduring wisdom of our tradition.

Every page of jewsandwords holds something delightful, but since the authors are Israelis, perhaps this paragraph about the power of their native tongue, Hebrew, should stand out as evidence of the durability of Jews: "Modern Hebrew is the greatest linguistic startup in modern times. During the twentieth century, the count of Hebrew speakers in the world grew from near-zero to more than ten million. There are now, by conservative estimates, six million to seven million native speakers and well over three million nonnative speakers, including Israeli Arabs and diaspora Jews. Think of it this way: more people speak Hebrew today than Danish. Or Lithuanian. Or—we like this one best—Austrian German. Who would have imagined?" (p. 173).

In other words, words are the other weapon that have kept Jews alive. In tandem with military intelligence, we have plenty of ammunition to keep us strong. The lesson that I draw from this month's reading is that both power and words must be deployed intelligently so that we can continue to thrive.

Bivrahah—in blessing,

Rabbi David Wise

Rabbi's Reflections

Associate Rabbi

Gary D. Kessler

80th Anniversary of Kristallnacht - The Night of Broken Glass

The Jewish people are about to commemorate a horrible anniversary, and it would be appropriate for all humankind to note that occasion as well. November 9 and 10 marks the 80th year since Kristallnacht, the organized anti-Jewish riots that brought about the realization of Nazi anti-Semitism throughout Germany and Austria. Kristallnacht (The Night of Broken Glass) was truly the harbinger of the 'Final Solution' and the tragedy of the Holocaust.

By secret order of Reinhard Heidrich (head of the Reich Main Security Office which controlled the Gestapo, police and SD operations), issue at 1:20 A.M. on November 10, 1938, a 'spontaneous demonstration' broke out against Jews, their homes, businesses and synagogues. The first violent pogrom in Western Europe in hundreds of years, Kristallnacht took an awful toll. Nearly 100 Jews died of beatings, lynching, arson and other brutality. Some 3,000 Jews were arrested in the middle of the night and deported to concentration camps; many of them never returned. Entire Jewish communities were marched through the streets by Storm Troopers, driven into the synagogues, and forced to read aloud from Der Sturmer, the virulent Nazi anti-Semitic newspaper. Some 267 of those synagogues were thereafter burned to the ground, while over 7,000 Jewish homes, offices and shops were vandalized and ransacked. The ultimate insult came two days later, when a fine of one billion marks was levied against the Jews themselves, charging them with inciting the rioting and ordering them to clean up the debris.

As Rabbi Leo Baeck realized, "The thousand year history of Jews in Germany had come to an end." What was the reply from the Western World? Aside from recalling the American ambassador from Berlin, the Roosevelt administration made little protest and failed to increase immigration quotas for the doomed Jews. England mildly increased Jewish immigration to England itself, while slamming shut the door to Palestine. The apathy of the Free World taught the Nazis that while some might condemn their pogroms and deportation of Jews, none would actively oppose them.

How difficult it is for us, living in the security of contemporary America, to realize that these atrocities and the Holocaust that followed belong virtually to our own generation. Many in our midst lived through these horrors and many more in their families did not. We are all survivors, and none of us can afford the danger of forgetfulness. We are all witnesses, and it is our mission to retell this gruesome story so that mankind will never forget. We are all Jews, and to be a Jew means to remember. Remember. Remember.....

A thoughtful Jewish November to you from my family to yours!

Sisterhood

Shalom! The new year of exciting Sisterhood events has already begun.

The Sisterhood sponsored Congregation Family Shabbat Dinner in the Sukkah was enjoyed by all. There were many helpers that night for which we are grateful. Special thanks go to Robyn Rosenberg and Jaye Solomowitz, who were not publicly thanked that night.

Our paid-up membership brunch was a huge success. Not only did we enjoy a wonderful breakfast, but we were entertained and enlightened with a program by the talented Flutissimo Quartet. Thank you to all the Sisterhood members who helped make it a success.

We appreciate Jaye Solomowitz for organizing the Hollis Hills Bayside Pink Ladies Breast Cancer Walk at Jones Beach.

Thank you to everyone who participated in the luncheon welcoming the ladies of Oak Hills. It was lovely.

As Chanukah is really early this year, we are holding our Annual Holiday Bazaar on November 4th. We have many new vendors and a large new Sisterhood Judaica shop, as well as a Grandma's Attic table.

Our Mah Jongg Club begins on November 11th from 1pm to 5pm. Naomi Horowitz is graciously heading this activity.

This year our Annual Torah Fund Brunch will be held on Sunday, November 18th. We are thrilled to honor Jo Ann Luquis. Jo Ann's involvement in our HHBJC community is remarkable. She has demonstrated her commitment to our temple family by demonstrating many acts of kindness. She has been an integral part of our Synagogue leadership and therefore deserving of this special honor.

Our Annual Challah Bake and Breakfast is set for Sunday, March 10th.

Purim Basket set up (with bagels) will be on March 17th. Distribution will follow the Megillah reading on March 20th.

We have many other events in the planning stage.

Please join us at our next planning meeting on a date to be announced. Our energetic group of Sisterhood members support the local, national and international Jewish Community.

Ohr Chadash News

This past Sunday we enjoyed celebrating Hoshanah Rabbah with Rabbi David Wise and the numerous congregants from Hollis Hills Bayside Jewish Center. The students took an active role, shaking the Lulav and Etrog and marching seven times around the sanctuary while performing Hakafot and singing "Hoshana."

The students were then each given five tied willows branches where they performed an interesting service that is unique for this one day of the year.

We thank Rabbi Wise for allowing us to experience this special service and for his explanations and leadership throughout the morning.

Morah Judy led all of her classes in the Sukkah which turned out to be a beautiful, sunny day. The children all enjoyed eating in the Sukkah and reciting the special "Leshev B'Sukkah" blessing. For the last hour of Hebrew school, we all enjoyed the picture perfect weather in the Sukkah.

We prepared many fun activities for all of the children to enjoy and to better appreciate the meaning of the holiday. The students were captivated by Morah Simcha's fascinating story about a special Etrog. Morah Lynn Blander taught the children many Sukkot songs as we all followed along with her and her guitar.

H2I Youth Group News

H2I Youth Group got off to a great start in the month of October. We began our year with H2I's 10th Birthday Party! Ten years ago, Hillcrest JC, Hollis Hills JC, and ICCJ came together to create something incredibly special, and over those ten years, H2I has accomplished tremendous things. Ya-sher Koach to all of H2I's members through the years for making our chapter something unlike any other in USY!

Our month continued with programs like, Race Chase, Cookie Craze, Decades Night, Sense Events, Get Your Glow On, There's no (H2)I in Team, and so many more! All of our members had the chance to reconnect after a summer apart, and everything is now fully back in swing!

November promises to be another exciting month for us! On November 4, our younger groups will participate in H2I Votes in the spirit of Election Day—they'll be making decisions in our Choose-Your-Own-Adventure Program. That night, our USYers will have their first Ask the Rabbi Session. On November 11, our younger groups will have a Social Actions program to give back on Veteran's Day, while our USYers will be having a Breakfast Club Lounge Night after spending the weekend at METNY Regional Fall Kinnus. On November 18, all of our groups will have Friendsgiving Dinners in anticipation of Thanksgiving!

Rabbi Dr. H. Joseph Simckes
Life After Retirement
Plato Got It Right!

Years ago, when I was a student in Boston Latin School, I studied with a modicum of success Latin and Greek classical texts. Little did I realize then how truly insightful they were. Consider this Platonic gem:

"IF YOU DON'T TAKE AN INTEREST IN THE AFFAIRS OF YOUR GOVERNMENT YOU ARE DOOMED TO LIVE UNDER THE RULE OF FOOLS!" --
 (Plato – born 427 B.C.E)

Plato's political wit-and-genius was underscored further when my beloved Prof. Demos, my instructor in Philosophy at Harvard, deftly disclosed in precise detail Plato's brilliant analysis of the sticky-wicket political playing field (ok, if you prefer a more current nasty epithet, "the swamp!"), as a place where dirty deals, struggle and intrigue took place in ancient Greece. Lord Acton (1834-1902 C.E.) shared that view and famously encapsulated it when he quipped, "All power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely!". It was true in Plato's era, in the Middle Ages and, sadly for us, even now.

Not all government officials, however, are motivated by personal gain and undeserved glory. History accurately records these undeniable facts: multitudes of truly righteous men & women have freely given their most precious possessions, their sacred honor, their creative imagination, their indomitable courage, masterful leadership and, yes, at times even their lives for the common good. Their sacrificial deeds of valor attest to this incontrovertible truth.

However, our Religious Tradition, as recorded in The Ethics of the Fathers ("Pirkei Avot") agrees with Plato and Lord Acton. Our sacred Mishnah has declared that it is prudent for all citizens to be extremely cautious when it comes to dealing with those who hold political power, whether at high, middle-management or "pen-pusher" levels:

"Beware of the government ('Ha-Reshut') i.e. those who give the rest of us 'official permission' to do this or that simply because they hold positions of political authority) for they do not bring us close to themselves for our benefit but for their own." Wow! This spicy Talmudic advice was actually an early formulation of President Ronald Reagan's oft-quoted maxim: "TRUST BUT VERIFY!" Right?

What can we in 2018- 5779 infer from these insights? Simple: However we may have voted - as Democrats, Republicans, Independents, etc. - in our recent mid-term national elections, we better make darn sure that our honorably elected American officials live up to their responsibility as guardians of our cherished, hard-won liberties to faithfully protect our constitutionally guaranteed rights.

It is not ingratitude that prompts us to take a keen interest in the affairs of our government. Rather, it is our own sense of adult responsibility. Plato, our Talmud & the late President

Ronald Reagan would all agree: "Citizen involvement in and oversight of their own city, state and national government affairs is to be applauded & encouraged...if not blessed!"

Rabbi Dr. Hirsch Joseph Simckes

P.S. A closer look at the scandalous way government officials of UNRWA have weaponized young, unsuspecting Arab children in the Middle East is also necessary. For the past 70 years UNRWA has filled these kids' minds and hearts with false images of Israelis via "cooked school books", texts that slyly teach that Israeli Jews are "oppressive, illegitimate occupiers" of Palestine whose evil deeds have made Jewish Israelis worthy only of death!

Particularly egregious is the fact that American tax money, originally gifted to UNRWA for proper educational purposes, constitutes the major funding source for this project. UNRWA's misuse of these funds is a violation of the U.N. Charter, international law and all standards of morality. The teaching of hate and genocide by any government agency, national or international, is unacceptable. Plato was spot-on right! Get involved! Governmental corruption is our responsibility to challenge and transform. The Sukkah of universal peace remains free & open to all only when we, Hashem's faithful servants, and other like-minded world citizens are prepared to protect and preserve it.
